

THE LOWE-DOWN ON A CLASSIC GOLF HIGHLIGHT ¡!!

JOHN LOWE'S magnificent Golf Classic, staged at Amarilla Golf, last Saturday raised more than 5.000 Euros for Captain Michael Baker's named charity AMATE.

The former world champion darts star attracted great support for his event, with all 18 tees sponsored for the stableford competition.

Such is John's popularity that the competition was over-subscribed, 25 four-man teams actually lining up for the shotgun start.

Together with match sponsorship, plus the putting green and two other donations of 100 euros each from the private sector, it totalled a huge 2,200 euros.

"We had a fantastic day," said Michael. "The golf was excellent and the entertainment afterwards was second to none.

"More than 159 people attended the barbeque, and we enjoyed the wonderful voice of Patricia, who entertained with a mixture of Spanish and English songs."

John Lowe conducted the auction, and he couldn't go far wrong because he had a host of magnificent items on offer, all kindly donated. And with two 50-euro donations, that raised over 1,400 euros.

There was also a superb display of horsemanship, combined with flamenco dancing which had the audience spellbound.

Main winners were the team comprising Paul Ferraby, Steve Johnson, Andres De La Hera and David Davidson, who scored 118 points.

And Tony McDonald at the ripe old age of 63, scored his first hole in one, which came at the 18th. That magnificent achievement also secured him the Nearest the Pin prize.

Tim Chambers won the men's Longest Drive competition, with Janet Kay triumphant for the woman. Paul Dwyer won the two's club draw.
